

First main block of faint text, appearing as several lines of a letter or document.

Second main block of faint text, continuing the document's content.

Third main block of faint text, possibly a signature or closing section.

Final block of faint text at the bottom of the page.