

Bedford

Bedford is a town in the county of Bedford, England. It is situated on the River Great Ouse, about 15 miles north of London. The town is one of the largest in the county and is an important centre of industry and commerce.

The town is situated on the River Great Ouse, which is one of the largest rivers in England. The river is used for navigation and is a source of water for the town. The town is also an important centre of industry and commerce.

The town is situated on the River Great Ouse, which is one of the largest rivers in England. The river is used for navigation and is a source of water for the town. The town is also an important centre of industry and commerce.

The town is situated on the River Great Ouse, which is one of the largest rivers in England. The river is used for navigation and is a source of water for the town. The town is also an important centre of industry and commerce.

The town is situated on the River Great Ouse, which is one of the largest rivers in England. The river is used for navigation and is a source of water for the town. The town is also an important centre of industry and commerce.

The town is situated on the River Great Ouse, which is one of the largest rivers in England. The river is used for navigation and is a source of water for the town. The town is also an important centre of industry and commerce.